"Every photograph (some of which are found nowhere else) inspires us to care about our closest living relatives and the critical importance of securing our future."

Mireya Mayor, PhD, National Geographic Explorer and Presenter; author of Pink Boots and a Machete.

"All the World's Primates is far and away the most complete and authoritative guide to primates."

Richard Wrangham, PhD, Moore Professor of Biological Anthropology, Harvard University; past president of the International Primatological Society; author of Catching Fire: How Cooking Made Us Human.

"The word 'ultimate' is banded about rather too often, but it seems an apt adjective for All the World's Primates."

Ian Redmond, PhD, OBE, Chairman of the Ape Alliance and the Species Survival Network Primate Working Group; co-founder of the United Nations Great Apes Survival Partnership.

"The section on orangutans alone is worth the price of admission! A superb contribution to our understanding of all primates, great and small."

Birutė Mary Galdikas, PhD, founder and director of the Orangutan Foundation International; author of Reflections of Eden.

"Good, good ... polite gorillas!"

signs Koko, "who was very fascinated, most especially by all the pictures of gorillas. She asked to be shown them several times!" Jane Narich, Development Director of the Gorilla Foundation, koko.org.

"All the World's Primates is the bible for primatologists. The photos are superb and actually depict behavior!"

Patricia C. Wright, PhD, author of For the Love of Lemurs: My Life in the Wilds of Madagascar; featured in the IMAX film Island of Lemurs: Madagascar and the CNN series Anthony Bourdain: Parts Unknown.

"Be awed, be inspired, be informed, be moved. Then—help conserve all the world's primates!"

Carl Safina, PhD, endowed professor for nature and humanity, Stony Brook University; author of Beyond Words: What Animals Think and Feel.

All the World's Primates shows you photographs or a drawing of every currently recognized taxon in the primate order with a synopsis of what is known about all 505 species. The information has been compiled by primatologists from around the world, who have done field research on their particular lemur, loris, galago, monkey, or ape in its natural habitat. The book illustrates these primates with more than 1500 photographs and provides more than 5000 references. You will be amazed by the diversity of the world's primates, and it will inspire you to protect endangered primates and their habitats. Fifty percent of the profits from the sale of this book will be donated to organizations working for the conservation of primates.
